Project Name: Fall Foliage
Size of Project: 73" X 73"
Story about this quilt: The minute I saw this block, I knew it would be a beautiful quilt in fall fabrics. I used batiks and grunge fabrics for the leaves. It was looking just okay when I was laying them out side by side but when I set them on point, it really had energy! It is our church's annual raffle quilt and was quilted by another member in the church who is also a long armer.

Project Name: Gordon's Birthday Quilt
Size of Project: 74" X 74"
Story about this quilt: My longtime trainer and friend (Gordon Bell, owner of Energy Fitness Concepts) turned 50 in August. He often says "Every day is training day!" I wanted to celebrate that saying with a sofa quilt for "watching football and drinking beer"! This is my own design.

Size of Project: 60" X 75"
Special tool or ruler: Creative Grids 60 degrees Diamond ruler;
<https://www.creativegridsusa.com/products/CGR60DIA>
Story about this quilt: So excited when I found blue and green striped fabrics in my stash. Perfect for this project. Had to piece some of the "solid" sections. Combination of straight line and dot to dot ruler work used to quilt. I love to finish my borders with Mactavish loops.

Fabric Designer or Line Show and Tell Inspiration bundle winner from August

Online/Blog Inspiration Lo and Behold Stitchery; <https://www.loandbeholdstitchery.com/blogs/lo-and-behold>

Project Name: Dot Dash

Size of Project: 60" X 75"

Story about this quilt: Bundle Challenge Winner from August Show and Tell Inspirations. Navy, Aqua, Lime and Rose solids in bundle. Inspired by a pattern but too cheap to buy it so I made my own version. Side by side photos show what a difference a change in the border can make. Plus a squeeze/slice of lime always adds flavor.

Book or Pattern Inspiration Turning Twenty; <https://quiltinaday.com/products/turning-twenty-the-original-by-tricia-cribbs>

Project Name: Snug as a Ladybug

Size of Project: 54" X 70"

Story about this quilt: This quilt was made for my husband's grand-niece Ashley and her husband to be, for their wedding. She likes emerald green and I used the ladybugs as a contrast. Simple designs show off the colors well. The only problem I had was that my longarm died in the middle of quilting the quilt. All is well now, after repair, and I finished it about a week early. I used a pantograph for the quilting design.

Fabric Designer or Line Cheddar and Indigo prints by Riley Blake plus additional fabrics from my stash

Online/Blog Inspiration carriedawayquilting.com

Project Name: At the Corner of Cheddar and Indigo

Size of Project: 60.5" X 70.5"

Story about this quilt: I happened upon a free pattern called Floating Squares by Carried Away Quilting and quickly pulled out my stash of cheddar and indigo fabrics left over from another project. "At the Corner of Cheddar and Indigo" is the result.

Project Name: Four Square Comfort

Size of Project: 56" X 60"

Story about this quilt: I cleaned out my mini charm stash and made 4-patches from the charms. Using my design wall, I laid out the four patches in a clockwise spiral. I put it together using a spider web chain piecing technique.

Fabric Designer or Line Kaffe Fassett

Project Name: Kaffe Fassett Mystery quilt

Size of Project: 66" X 66"

Story about this quilt: My friend and I decided to buy the same kit. This is the first one I ever finished. When we finally received the picture of how it should be put together, I didn't like it so I rearranged the blocks, added the piano keys and used leftover fabric for the back. I just designed two pillow cases using even more of the leftover fabric.
